WHY CAN WE DO IT?

Why can we retail goods at wholesale prices?

Such a thing is impossible to any other shoe firm in Decatur, but easily possible to us.

The great wholesale boot and shoe house of L. L. Ferriss & Co., at Chicago handles goods in such tremendous quantities that all the goods bought and sold in Decatur during years would be small in comparison. Buying in great quantities at first hands and saving every possible discount, this house is able to own its goods at a figure which no retailer ever thinks possible. The retail establishment in Decatur, Ferriss & Lapham shoe store, is supplied direct by the Chicago wholesale house, consequently it always has its goods at a figure which would enable it to sell to all other dealers here at a profit. The real truth is that the regulation retail selling price is about the figure which other dealers here pay for their goods. We can give good substantial shoes at a price which other Decatur dealers will charge you for shoddy stuff. Our goods are all new and fresh and are coming in all the time. No old shop worn goods. We are determined to make this retail business larger than in any previous year. It is the volume of trade, not the size of the profit that we are after. Come yourself and tell your neighbors to come to us for everything in the shoe line. We will save you big money.

The officer killed the dog, which it is feared was mad, and as he had his hand in concluded to kill three others, who had either been defeated for some canine office, or had some other good cause for depression as they were undoubtedly mad about something.

WHAT SOME OLD PAPERS DID.

A New Face Put on the Suits Against William Niedermeyer and Others.
The finding of a bundle of musty, old, yellow documents a week or two ago, by Miss Mary Niedermeyer, put a different face on a suit brought against William Niedermeyer and others by Charles A. Barnes, of Jacksonville. About four weeks ago Mr. Barnes came to Decatur and filed in the recorder's office two deeds, transferred from the heirs of Yates & King certain ground in the addition made by that firm to the city. There is employed at the present occupants of the grounds to require them to give possession.

The property in dispute is a strip 10 feet wide running from North Monroe street across North Mercer street and through to Pine street. Between that strip and West Eldorado street there is a strip five feet wide, about the ownership of which there is no dispute. When Yates & King's addition was laid out there was a jog in Eldorado street, so that instead of running where it now does, the north line of the street was five feet south of the present south line, and the south line 40 feet south, the strip of which possession is now sought, to be obtained, being what was then the street. The city about years ago straightened Eldorado street, by buying land enough north of where it then was. In doing that the five foot strip was left between the north line of the old street and the south line of the new street. That strip the city had an unquestionable title to.

Mr. Niedermeyer then lived on the corner of Monroe and Eldorado streets, and owned the property through to Mercer, and beyond. He secured from the city a deed to the five foot strip, and supposing that the land, formerly in the street, but now removed from it by the change of line, reverted to the adjoining property, moved his fence out to the new Eldorado street. The other property owners did the same. Apparently, by the deeds from the city, that was just 20 years the last of March, 1870.

It lacked only two days of the 20 years when the holders of the property were notified of the suit of Mr. Barnes. He claimed that property laid out for a street as that had been, reverted not to the adjoining property, as in some cases, but to the original owners of the land, Yates & King, or their heirs, and cited several important decisions to prove his case. Had he waited two days longer he would have been revealingly shut out by 20 years' undisturbed possession would have given a clear title. He looked, however, like a good case, and could claim ownership to a lot on Monroe street on which was a two-story brick building and a strip through several lots on Eldorado street, the property of William Niedermeyer, George F. Lyon, Ray Ringland and the Tyler estate. The suits were brought against the three men named, as some time ago the owners of the two Tyler lots, wishing to sell them, had discovered the defect in the title and cleared it by settling with Mr. Barnes.

It looked like the present settling of the property was in a fair way to go into costly litigation, or settle at a big expense. They even began to think about doing what they considered was buying their own property again, that is, paying pretty nearly as much as it was worth for the title. Lawyers who looked at the matter thought Mr. Barnes might get $1,000 or $2,000 out of it, anyway. All hope of that is gone now, and his attorneys have offered to settle for what is a paltry sum.

That is where the bundle of old musty papers came in. In which reference was made at the beginning of the article. Miss Niedermeyer found them in an old desk, and looked at them more out of curiosity than anything else. The first paper opened was a notice to her father from the commissioners who straightened the street, to meet them on the 25th of August, 1870, at 10 o'clock in the morning, when they would transfer the old street property to him, with the five foot strip, and ordered the whole assessed to him. That gave the clue. The city records were examined by Mr. Niedermeyer, and it was found that at the next meeting of the council he was authorized and ordered to mark his fence so as to include the whole ground now in dispute. That showed that he had had undisputed possession of the lot for six months over the 20 years required. The date in the deeds to the five foot strip were the ones in the recent 10 of the county recorder's office, but the possession can be established to have begun before those dates. Witnesses have since been found who will swear that Mr. Niedermeyer's fences inclosed the ground in dispute within a few days after the council authorized him to do so.

When those facts were brought to the attention of Mr. Barnes' attorney, John Randolph, they offered to settle for $30 a lot. That would be about $90 a lot. Niedermeyer and a portion of the amount for the other property owners. They have not yet decided what to do. They felt greatly relieved, but do not yet feel that it would be cheaper to fight the claim, which other attorneys say now has nothing to stand on in court.

Presbyterian Mattress.

The Presbyterians say they will have the foundation for their new church laid this summer. The house now on the church lot will be moved off within 90 days, and work will begin soon after that. The plans are not yet drawn, but they will be started soon. This much has been decided, that the church shall be a large one, built of stone, and will cost about $50,000. The finance committee will get down to business in a few days and raise the money. The subscription books have already been opened with a subscription of $5,000, made by James McElroy.

Work on the Sisters' new hospital is progressing rapidly, and it will undoubtedly be ready for occupancy well before the time set in the contract.

The brick for the Woman's Club building was hauled and piled up in the lot three or four weeks ago. It is being moved off now so that the cellar can be dug.
There was a pleasant gathering and a delightful time enjoyed at the residence of Gas Wood on North Morgan street last night by a party of his friends.

"There is no politics about it," is the cry now, but on the day of election the wall of the South Water street bannex was: "You will not vote for a democrat, will you?"
The Dalton City people, or some of them rather, wish a correction made in the publication of the result of the election. The town went anti-license by a small majority.

A new society called the H. S. S. C. has been organized in this city. Members wear blue buttons, and refuse to tell what the initials given above stand for. As a rough guess, do they mean Honey Suckles Smother Corn? Or is it Hungry Suckles Socks Consolation?

Tot and gray boss, that tore around the boulevard.
Tore around the boulevard, tore around the boulevard.
Will have another boss, though it does seem truly hard.

At home Mrs. No. One.
Miss Abbe Monney, of North Clinton street, intends leaving in a few days for Nebraska, and about 20 of her friends gathered at her home last night for the purpose of having one more good sociable time before she went, and that they succeeded in abundantly proving by the evidence of the participants. A splendid lunch was partaken of during the evening.

Only a few short days ago T. J. Muleady was burning up with the western fever and left Decatur for an "extended trip" through Colorado. Yesterday without sign or warning he appeared in Decatur again, much to the delight of his numerous friends. He is cured of the western fever and there is no danger of a relapse. He admits that the west is a great country, but he says Illinois is greater. He likes the broad expanses of billowy prairie, and the gigantic grandeur of the mountains, but he dislikes the familiarity of a climate where the wind plays base ball with boulders, and doesn't care a cent whether they strike you or the bat, and he seriously objects to the liberty Boreas takes in converting the lobes of one's ears into sand bags. There is much to see and enjoy out there, but not as much as in Decatur, and in the future Mr. Muleady will not be found signing for western lands or mountain scenes. Decatur is good enough for him, and Decatur is good enough for any body.

They Want Him Marked.
The subject communication was handed in at this office last night:
Jack McWhinny, the elected constable, who calls himself a republican, is out tonight leading a band to serenade a democratic success. Mark him out.

PETE MITCHELL.
P. S.—Remember he said the colored man defeated the party.

Harry Hackett has been promoted to the position of day caller at the round house, and Willie Hackett has been made Wabash messenger.

Shelled corn was strung along the Wabash tracks for a distance of a quarter of a mile yesterday. It broke loose some way and jolted off of the cars.

J. E. Wallace, superintendent of bridges and building of the Wabash, intends selling his residence in Springfield, and removing his family to his extensive farm near Little Rock, Ark. He will continue to make his headquarters in that city.
Wabash Conductor A. O'Brien has bought a handsome house at the corner of Bradford and North Water streets. He says it is not for rent, and as his family is not very large just at present, there is considerable speculation as to what use he will make of the house.

Building Notes.

The Union Society.
The lecture room of the First Methodist church would hardly hold all who attended the service of the Decatur Christian Endeavor Union last night. Over 500 people were there. During the evening this program was given:
Piano Solo—"Hallelujahs Schifferlied," Miss Edie Brown and Hattie Miller.
Vocal Solo—"The Garden of Sleep," Miss Leffingwell.

Trouble at Sullivan.
A. F. Robinson and F. D. Siple, two anti-license aldermen of Sullivan, were here last night to do a little filibustering in the municipal legislative affairs of that city. The election there went in favor of license. It was intended to have a meeting of the council last night, and make arrangements to grant licenses at once. They left town, and that broke the quarrel in the council. It is stated that an effort will be made to prevent the issuance of license there by getting out an injunction on the charge of fraud at the election.

Married.
Ralph L. Fullenwider and Miss Emma Tabbot, both of Decatur, were married at 7 o'clock last night at the home of the bride's father, Thomas Tabbot, 350 East Division street. Rev. G. E. Scrimmer performed the ceremony. A few friends were present.

One Advantage.
Mrs. Blinder—I'm so nervous about fire, especially now that that hotel has been built on the lower corner.
Mr. Blinder—Oh, don't worry; we are safe. Spinks' real yard is set over our house and the hotel. That's protection enough. His coal never burns—Harper's Bazar.
